Code of Ethics

The institution follows the code of ethics for research and publication as given under:

Authorship

Any one who is an author or a co-author is responsible for his/her work viz., manuscript publication or compilation as an editor. It is forbidden to publish others work as one's own whether in full or partially. It is also unethical to fabricate research data or change the data of others and use it as one's own.

Plagiarism

Any information used in one's research work taken from the work of others has to be acknowledged in an appropriate form or else it will be deemed to be intellectual theft. It will be considered as plagiarism. Due reference should be cited clearly mentioning the author, articles, volumes, pages and books etc.

Report to funding agencies

Proposals to funding agencies should not contain anticipated results of surveys or experiments without conducting them. Regular and periodic report has to be sent to the funding agency by the Principal investigator. Expenditure statements have to be audited regularly.

Publication

No one can stake a claim that his/her research paper has been published, anticipating its submission or as accepted for publication as long as the author has not received an official letter from the editor or publisher that the article has been approved for publication.

No researcher can publish the same research article in more than one journal.

Data Usage

Permission has to be obtained from the Principal/ Management before using any data of the college and no data can be collected from the staff or students without prior permission.
